

What we do

The Intercultural Skills Lab recognizes the challenges you face when navigating new and diverse work cultures.

Whether you are new to Canada, manage multicultural teams, or both, we offer solutions to optimize diversity in current globalized workforces.

For more than 10 years, our programs have equipped professionals with the tools, insights, and real-world experience to advance into new work environments while still channeling the skills and expertise that have shaped their careers so far.

Who we are

An experienced team of intercultural specialists, professionals and academics with diverse skills, experiences and backgrounds—and a shared commitment to intercultural fluency and cognitive diversity.

How it works

We provide high-quality programs for:

- Internationally Educated Professionals
- Managers leading Diverse Teams

Our programs and resources help individuals realize their goals and advance their careers.

Why it's valuable

The Intercultural Skills lab works with participants to:

- Navigate and succeed in globalized workforces and sectors
- Challenge and reclaim how international experience is valued
- Establish and action solutions that use intercultural competencies to drive performance
